HISTORY OF ALLIANCE THEATRE

Alliance Theatre, Inc. (AT) was established in 1978 as an independent, non-profit, multicultural and ethnically diverse Theatre in Community, dedicated to the development of young people in the performing arts. The company offers theatre opportunities to a diverse population of performance artists and underserved audiences in the Greater New Haven region. AT held the rights to Black Nativity for over 20 years.

In 2004, AT was selected, along with eleven other New Haven organizations, to participate in the PACK (Parents And Communities for Kids) initiative which promotes family learning. ACT remains a PACK affiliate. During its 32 year history, AT has been the subject of several documentaries and news articles. It has received numerous awards recognizing the quality of its programs.

Alliance Children's Theatre (ACT) is a subsidiary of AT, created to provide a regional program for children ages 7-18 in a culturally diverse setting at no cost to the participants. ACT produces a season of plays by and for young people, and tours to libraries, community centers, and churches. In addition to numerous musical productions, ACT offers 2 summer camp programs for Greater New Haven children. Participants are involved as actors, play directors, and technical crew. Through artistic involvement in the theatre, children develop interpersonal, leadership, and literacy skills.

AT is dependent on grants and donations to offset the cost of operating the theatre programs. Your generous contribution paves the way for making the organizations programs available to all who love the arts.
